The right kind of education begins with the educator, who must understand himself and be free from established patterns of thought; for what he is, that he imparts. If he has not been rightly educated, what can he teach except the same mechanical knowledge on which he himself has been brought up?

So, our problem is not so much the child, the boy or the girl, but the teacher, the educator, who needs educating much more than the pupil. And to educate the educator is far more difficult than to educate the child, because the educator is already set, fixed. He merely functions in a routine, because he is really not concerned with the thought process, with the cultivation of intelligence.

-J Krishnamurti

Objectives of the course

'Role of a Teacher in School' is an online course that will enable participants to engage with J Krishnamurti's teachings, their relevance in contemporary times and the educational philosophy that derives from the teachings. Due to COVID situation that currently prevails we are not able to commit to practical work (internship) at one of the KFI schools. However, this possibility will be reviewed in due course of time and requirements will be communicated as and when we decide about this.

The course will provide:

- An orientation for prospective teachers who wish to teach in schools.
- An opportunity for interested young people who are either starting out in teaching or planning to make a career change to education.
- A fresh look for teachers with experience.
- An opportunity to gain a foothold in the ethos of education before taking up full-time responsibilities.

Selection of participants will be through an interview process. Applicants can opt to participate in any module/s or entire course of four modules. Applicants opting to participate in the entire course will be preferred. There will be some limitation on the number of participants.
